

WANTED:

UI / UX DESIGNER (F/M)

The early bird... starts working for Testbirds!

Since 2011 Testbirds has been a pioneer in the crowd- and cloud based testing of apps, web applications, wearables and Internet of Things applications. With the support of 100 employees and 300,000 testers globally we are successfully conquering this rapidly growing international market. If you are looking for an exciting start-up environment, this job is for you!

Your Tasks

- You design end-to-end interfaces and user experiences across mobile, desktop, and web platforms through wireframing, and prototyping
- You will be working closely together with our developers regarding the implementation of your designs and graphics into our final product
- You transfer requirements into concepts and finally into graphics with focus on usability and user experience
- Besides designing new components, you will review and iterate current designs
- While designing, you always keep our company branding guidelines in mind

Your Qualifications

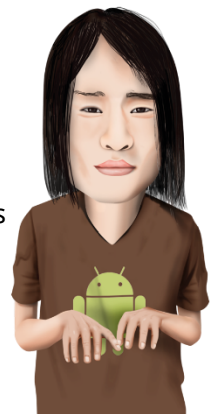

- You studied Graphic / Visual Design or something equivalent and are really passionate about it
- You have at least 2 years of working experience in UX and UI, preferably in product teams
- You have good knowledge of Adobe Creative Cloud Applications (Photoshop, Illustrator, Adobe Experience)
- Being creative is as much part of your working style as working independently
- You speak English fluently

You get extra points for:

- Basic knowledge of web-related technologies like HTML, CSS or Javascript

We are offering

- A permanent position based in the heart of Munich near the Theresienwiese
- Flat hierarchy: you are responsible for your work and you can implement your own ideas
- Development possibilities through a variety of internal and external training opportunities
- An open culture, uncomplicated togetherness and joy of shared successes
- A great work atmosphere with a lot of team activities, foosball tournaments, weekly breakfasts and all the coffee/soft drinks you can drink
